

Wednesday, 23 October 2013

Applications for healthcare mgmt course:

The Sankara Nethralaya Academy, A unit of Medical Research Foundation has invited applications for a certified course on health care supply chain management. The course will be conducted over 12 Saturdays between 2pm and 5pm, at Sankara Nethralaya on College Road.

THE HINDU Business Line

Chennai, Oct. 12:

Healthcare supply chain course

The Sankara Nethralaya Academy is accepting applications for a weekend course on supply chain management in healthcare. Having tied up with the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) Institute of Logistics for this course, the academy aims to educate healthcare professionals about the importance of managing supplies for the efficient functioning of a healthcare organisation.

The lectures will include supply chain framework, forecasting demand, classifying healthcare goods, order placement, warehousing, forward and reverse logistics and disposal methods.

The 12-weekend, classroom course, starting on 9th November 2013, will enroll doctors, material managers and patient service executives and does not have an age bar. The course fee is Rs 10,000.

<http://www.thehindubusinessline.com/industry-and-economy/education/healthcare-supply-chain-course/article5229246.ece#comments>

Details and Registration for this course, Pl visit: www.thesnacademy.ac.in or contact: A Mahalingam at 97104 85295 / mahali@snmail.org
